

ABOUT WHEATONARTS

History & Mission

For over five decades, WheatonArts has been a vital cultural resource in southern New Jersey on a local and international scale. The campus is nestled in a beautiful pineland setting with a mission to engage artists and audiences in an evolving exploration of creativity. WheatonArts remains the region's primary tourist destination and serves as a dynamic center for the arts with ever-expanding programs that capture the imagination of all ages.

WheatonArts hosts ongoing educational programs, exhibitions, workshops, performances, artist residencies, several multi-day cultural events, and an annual fine craft festival. Programming and events attract over 60,000 visitors annually, and over 95,000 people benefit from off-site lectures, demonstrations, and activities in schools, historical organizations, and other venues. Additionally, over 2,000 children visit on class tours and youth programs, including our unique "Glasstown Collective" program for at-risk youth.

The New Jersey State Council on the Arts recognizes WheatonArts as a Major Arts Organization, "given in recognition of the organizations' solid history of artistic excellence, substantial programming, and broad public service." This honor notes that the Center "stands among a group of organizations across our state that contributes vitally to the quality of life in New Jersey."
